

THE CHINESE ADHESIVES AND SEALANTS MARKET

Publication: January 2005

Price: €3,000

IAL Consultants is pleased to announce the publication of its report: The Chinese Adhesives and Sealants Market. This first-edition volume provides a detailed overview of China's rapidly-expanding adhesives and sealants market.

The Chinese synthetic adhesives and sealants market has grown rapidly over the past decade. Total consumption was estimated to have reached 4 million tonnes by the end of 2004, making China the second largest synthetic adhesives and sealants market after the United States. It is forecast that the market will continue to grow at 12% per year to 2009 due to booming growth in the end use markets.

This new study provides the following information:

- Production and consumption for 2004 and forecasts to 2009
- Imports and exports
- Market segmentation by geographic region, product and end-use sector for 2004 and forecasts to 2009
- Market share of leading manufacturers
- Identification of leading manufacturers by product segments
- Distribution of adhesives and sealants
- Local operation features including tariffs and taxes, intellectual property, technology transfer, environmental regulations and standards.
- Directory of major adhesives and sealants manufacturers

Research for this report has drawn on a variety of published sources, including government statistics, trade associations, in-house and library data. A telephone interview programme was conducted by our staff in London and Beijing during late 2004.
